Thursday, June 19. 1718.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated June 24.

Passarowitz, June 6.

ON the 29th past M. Fleischman, Aulick Counsellor of War, arrived here, and had presently a Conference with Count Virmond and Baron Dahlman. On the 30th a Capigi Bassa, or Gentleman of the Chamber to the Grand Signior, arrived here from Adrianople, with important Dispatches for the Ottoman Plenipotentiaries: And having first complimented the Ambassadors of his Imperial Majesty, he went to the Quarter of those of the Ottoman Porte, who received him with all Marks of Honour, and came out on Horseback with all their Retinue to meet him. He presented to Sir Robert Sutton, His Britannick Majesty's Plenipotentiary, a rich Vest of double Sable, with a Purse of 1000 Ducats in Gold, according to the Custom of the Turks in like Cases. We hear that the Age of the Janizaries is advanced with a considerable Body of Turkish Infantry between Sophia and Nissa. On our Side the Imperial Army is almost quite form'd between Semlin and Cabis; and a Bridge is building on the Danube near Koiuts. We hear the Capigi Bassa has brought to the Ambassadors of the Ottoman Porte, Full Powers much more ample, for their treating with the Emperour's Plenipotentiaries, as also with the Plenipotentiary of the Republick of Venice, and for removing at the same Time the Obstacles that have hitherto hinder'd the opening the Congress. On the 2d of this Month, the Full Powers of the Turkish Ambassadors were brought by the Secretaries of the Mediators to the Emperour's Plenipotentiaries to be examin'd. The 3d, the Ministers Mediators went to the Ambassadors of his Imperial Majesty, to receive back the said Full Powers; and to confer with them upon the opening the Congress, which was fix'd for the 5th. The 4th, the Grand Imperial Pavillion which was brought by Count Virmond, was erected, upon the Place between the Encampment of the Ministers Mediators, and Guards were posted there both by the Imperialists and Turks. The 5th, at Nine in the Morning, the two Plenipotentiaries of his Imperial Majesty went to the Tent of Conference in the following Order: A Squadron of Cuirassiers marched at the Head, follow'd by a Company of Foot; the Esquire of M. Dahlman, second Ambassador of his Imperial Majesty, with two Led Horses; the Esquire of the Count de Virmond, the first Imperial Ambassador, with several Led Horses; M. Dirling, Secretary of the Imperial Embassy, in his Coach, with M. Schmid, Interpreter of the Imperial Court for the Oriental Languages; the second Coach of M. Dahlman; the second and third Coaches of Count Virmond; The Gentlemen and Officers of M. Dahlman on Horseback; M. Dahlman in his Coach, surrounded by his Footmen and Heydukes, and accompany'd by his Pages on Horseback; the Trumpets of the Count de Virmond; his Gentlemen and Officers on Horseback; the Coach of Count Virmond wherein he was himself, surrounded by a great Number of Footmen and Heydukes, and follow'd by his Pages on Horseback; a Squadron of Cuirassiers shut up the March. The Turkish Ambassadors arriv'd at the same time, and went each first to the particular Tents they had caus'd to be erected, and some time after advanc'd in equal Paces with the Ministers Mediators to the great Tent of Conference; where after great Expressions of Civilities on both Sides, they began to talk of the Affairs of the Peace. The Conference lasted from Eleven in the Forenoon to Two in the Afternoon, and was adjourn'd to the next Day.

From the Amst. Courant, dated June 25.

Vienna, June 11. It is remark'd here as a Matter worthy Observation, that the Ottoman Porte has condescended to what has not formerly been known, namely, that the Full Powers of their Plenipotentiaries is now sign'd by the Sultan's own Hand, which the Grand Vizier only has us'd to do, and to this too his Highness has added with his own Hand the following Words, 'The Articles specified and contain'd in these my Full Powers have intirely my Imperial Consent: Let the Treaty proceed according to the Tenor thereof.' Letters from Passarowitz mention, that the Turkish Plenipotentiaries behav'd themselves in the Conference with great Moderation and favourable Disposition, so that the Hopes of a Peace with the Porte are much reviv'd. The Conferences will be continued daily, in order to bring the Negotiation to a speedy Issue. General Paté is sent with 1200 Horse and 1000 Foot to reinforce Illicva, which Place the Turks seem'd to threaten an Attempt upon.

Schaffshuysen, June 16. The Letters from France are full of grievous Complaints upon the great Loss the People sustain by the new Alteration of the Coin. Those from Lyons mention, that Mr. Laws and his Adherents have found Means to gain great Sums by it; for they knowing of it beforehand, took all their Money out of the Bank, and deposited it up and down in other Hands, but with Condition that they should be re-paid it in Silver or Gold of the same Weight and Price; and so great Sums were offer'd at Lyons, that at last People would not touch the Money, altho' without Interest. This Alteration of the Coin has made all sorts of Merchandize rise a third Part at Lyons and other Places. And the Letters from Paris say, that the Murmuring of the People is very great upon it.

Paris, June 25. The following Arrêt of the Council of State has been publish'd here:

THE King being inform'd that the Parliament of Paris, by an Arrêt of this Day, in ordaining that Remonstrances should be made to his Majesty upon the Subject of the Edict of the Month of May last, which ordains the Recoinage of the Money and the Price at which the Old and New Species are to pass, have, by Provision, made Prohibitions to all Persons to execute the said Edict, or receive the Species recoined according thereunto, and in Prejudice and Contravention to the said Edict the Parliament ordains, that their Arrêt shall be read and publish'd, and even that collated Copies shall be sent to the Bailliages in their Jurisdiction. And as this Arrêt is an injurious Attempt upon the Royal Authority, his Majesty being in his Council, with the Advice of Monsieur the Duke of Orleans, Regent, without regarding the said Edict which he has destroy'd and annull'd, has ordained and doth ordain, that the Edict of the Month of May last concerning the Monies, shall be executed according to its Form and Tenour; and that the present Arrêt shall be read, publish'd and affix'd where ever it is needful, that none may be ignorant thereof. Done in the Council of State at Paris, his Majesty being present, the 20th of June, 1718.

Signed Phelypeaux.

Sir,

Your Vote and Interest are still humbly desired for THOMAS REYNOLDS, Citizen and Weaver of London, to be one of the Bridge-Masters, in the Room of Mr. John Pitt, lately deceased. And your Petitioner shall ever pray.

The Assumptant General and Cashier of the Bank of England give Notice, That they are ready to receive at the Bank the Lottery Orders that were omitted to be subscribed at Whitehall for Annuities at 3 l. per Cent per Annum. That they are also ready to take in the Debentures made forth for the Debt due to the Army for Annuities at the Rate of 4 per Cent per Annum. And they desire all Persons that are still possess'd of any Orders that were subscribed, to bring them to the Bank, provided all Interest due on the said Orders to the 24th of June, 1717, be received on the same.

Query 1. How far the Citizens of London are obliged to promote the Interest of Sir H. M. to be Chamberlain of the City, for stripping that Office already of its best Perquisite?

Query 2. How far the most hearty Friends to the Government, and City Privileges, are indebted to the same Gentleman for dividing an Interest that could carry that Place for a Zealous Subject, and a worthy deserving Citizen, and hazarding thereby its being filled by some Person of a very different Complexion?

Vide St. James's Post, June 18, 1718.

Query 1. Whether the Lords of the Treasury have not an undoubted Right to appoint who their Lordships please Receiver-General of the Taxes for this City and County of Middlesex? And whether their Lordships have not shewn a Respect to the Citizens, by appointing one of their Sheriffs Receiver.

Query 2. Whether it will not be prudent in the Livery-Men to choose the same Gentleman Chamberlain, unless they can assign some Personal Incapacity? And whether he is not very well intitled to their Favour, who has been, and is now, at so great Expence of Time and Money for their Service, in the Execution of his Office.

London, June 17, 1718.

There was Yesterday an unaccountable sort of a Paper handed about this City, intituled, Reasons for choosing Sir H. M. Chamberlain of London, which some People think was writ by Lieut. Coll. S. W. or some of his Friends; Whoever was the Author, he forgot to acquaint his Fellow-Citizens, That on Midsummer Day last they were almost unanimously of Opinion, that King George had no Citizen more truly Loyal than Sir Harcourt Master, nor any one with whom they could more safely repose the great Trust committed to the Sheriffs of this City; And they then believed he was so very well acquainted with the Laws and Customs thereof, as to be capable of performing his Duty therein; and, if so, it cannot be doubted he will acquit himself equally well as Chamberlain, and Malice hath not been able to charge him with having done any thing, during his Sheriffsalty, to forfeit the good Opinion his Fellow Citizens had of him when he was chosen: The Author likewise forgot to give one very good Reason, why Sir Harcourt, though he hath an Estate, ought to increase it, viz. For the better Provision for his Nine Children, which this Year has been very far from doing.

Lieut. Col. SAMUEL WESTALL renews his humble Request to all his Fellow-Citizens for their Interest, Vote and Poll, on Midsummer Day, to be Chamberlain of London for the Year ensuing. Who has faithfully served the Citizens of London in several Stations, both Civil and Military; above 30 Years, to his very great Expence; has been a Livery-man more than 37 Years, and in one Instance got the City upwards of 30000 Pounds.

Sir,

Your Vote, Interest, and Poll, (if needful) is humbly desired for FRANCIS MOLYNEUX, Citizen and Tallow-Chandler of London (late Woollen-Draper in St. Paul's Church Yard) who has served this City for many Years, both in the Common Council, and Lieutenantcy, and is a Person zealously affected to His Majesty King George, and our happy Constitution; to be Chamberlain of this City; who, if chosen, will make it his entire Business to execute the said Office with the utmost Care and Fidelity.

S I R,

Your Vote, Interest, and Poll, (if needful) is desired for Deputy GEORGE LUDLAM, to be Chamberlain of this City, who has upon all Occasions, been industrious to support the Rights and Privileges of his Fellow Citizens, and is well acquainted with the Laws and Customs of this City; and zealously affected to his Majesty King George, and our happy Constitution both in Church and State.

Sir,

Your Vote, Interest and Poll (if needful) are desired for HENRY DURLEY, Merchant and Citizen of London, to be Chamberlain of this City at the ensuing Election, whose Qualifications for so great a Trust, are well known, and whose Zeal to his Majesty King George, and the present happy Constitution, is unquestionable.

There being several Advertisements relating to the Choice of Chamberlain for the City of London in several of the Papers, if Sir William Fitzmaurice should think fit to decline standing in order for such Choice the ensuing Year, he should not prevent them, then ALEXANDER JACOB, Tallow-Merchant and Estimator, does most humbly desire the Vote and Interest of the Citizens of London, so far as relates to the said Office of Chamberlain for the said City.

JOHN PRINCE, Citizen and Founder of London, having for a long time solicited and engaged his Friends, and their Interest, for the electing him into the Office of Bridge-Master, is so well satisfy'd in the Promises and Qualifications of his said Friends, that he has great Encouragement to hope for the desired Success, if they will be so mindful of him as not to omit appearing in Person at the Election: And he publishes this Advertisement, humbly and earnestly to entreat them not to fail him on the 24th Instant, that, if possible, the Charge and Trouble of a Poll may be prevented, for which he shall, as in Duty bound, ever pray.

Sir,

Your Vote and Interest is humbly desired for HENRY OWEN, Citizen and Cooper (late of the Angel and Crown Tavern behind the Royal Exchange) to be one of your Bridge-Masters, in the Room of Mr. Pitts, deceased. And as in Duty bound he shall ever pray, &c.

Sir,

Your Interest, Vote, and Poll (if needful) is humbly desired for JEREMIAH MARLOW, Citizen and Goldsmith of London, (your former Petitioner) who has been Forty Years a Shop-keeper in Lombard-street, hath (long since) serv'd all the Offices in his Ward and Parish, and been Thirteen Years of the Common-Council of this City; he has a Wife and several Children unprovided for, therefore humbly prays your Favour for the Office of Bridge-Master, vacant by the Death of Mr. Pitts. N. B. This is the second time of his standing Candidate for Bridge-Master.

Sir,

Your Vote and Interest are humbly desired for Sir ROBERT DUNKLEY, Merchant, Citizen, and Haberdasher of London, (who hath had great Losses in Trade both by Sea and Land, and hath a Wife and several Children unprovided for) to be one of the Bridge-Masters of this City, in the Room of Mr. John Pitts, deceased.
